Humans have struggled against weeds since the beginning of agriculture. The global need for weed control has been answered mainly by the chemical industry. Its herbicides are effective and sometimes necessary, but some pose serious problems, particularly if misused. Toxic compounds threaten animals and public health when they are present in food plant, ground water, and drinking water. They also harm workers who apply them.

In recent years the chemical industry has introduced several herbicides that are more ecologically sound. Yet new chemicals alone cannot solve the world's weed problems. Therefore, scientists are exploring the innate weed-killing powers of living organisms, primarily insects and microorganisms. The biological agents now in use are harmless to humans, environmentally friendly, and offer the benefit of specificity. They can be chosen for their ability to attack selected targets and leave crops and other plants untouched. In contrast, some of the most effective chemicals kill almost all the plants they come in contact with, sparing only those that are naturally resistant to those that have been genetically modified for resistance. Furthermore, a number of biological agents can be administered only once, after that no added applications are needed. Chemicals, typically, must be used several times per growing season.

Question 57: What is the passage primarily about?

- A. A suggestion to ban the use of all herbicides B. The dangers of toxic chemicals
 C. The importance of the chemical industry D. Advantages of biological agents over chemical ones

Question 58: According to the passage, the use of chemical agents

Preparation is a key to a successful interview. Does the idea of going to a job interview make you feel a little nervous? Many people find that it is the hardest part of the employing process. But it is not really true. The more you prepare and practise, the more comfortable you will feel. You should find out as much as possible about the company before you go to the interview. Understand the products that they produce and the services that they provide. It is also good to know who the customers are and who the major competitors are. "Practice makes perfect". It will also make you feel more confident and relaxed. So, practise your answers to common questions. Make a list of questions to ask, too. Almost all interviewers will ask if you have questions. This is a great opportunity for you to show your keenness, enthusiasm, and knowledge.

Make a great impression. The interview is your chance to show that you are the best person for the job. Your application or résumé has already exhibited that you are qualified. Now it is up to you to show how your skills and experience match this position and this company. The employer will be looking and listening to determine if you are a good fit. He/she will be looking for a number of different qualities, in addition to the skills that you possess. To make the best impression, dress appropriately; express your strengths; arrive early, by about 10-15 minutes; be enthusiastic; shake hands firmly; be an active listener; sit up straight and maintain eye contact; and ask questions

After the interview, follow up with a thank-you note. This is a chance for you to restate your interest and how you can benefit the company. Your best bet is to try to time it so that the note gets there before the hiring decision is made. You should also follow up with a phone call if you do not hear back from the employer within the specified time.

Question 62: The pronoun it in line 2 refers to _____.

- A. the interviewer B. the interview C. the preparation D. the job

Question 63: What does the writer advise you to practice?

- A. Meeting some customers and competitors. B. Making products that the company produces.
C. Providing services that the company serves. D. Asking and answering questions related to the job

Question 64: Which should not be shown during your interview?

- A. Weaknesses B. Punctuality C. Being properly-dressed D. A firm hand shaking

Question 65: You can show your qualifications in the

- A. eye contact with the interview B. dressing style and punctuality
C. competing with the competitors D. résumé and letter of application

Question 66: Which is not included in the writer's advice?

- A. You should telephone the interviewer for any information after the interview
B. You should write a note to say thanks to the interviewer after the interview
C. You should make the best impression in the interview.
D. You should not communicate with the interviewer after the interview.

Last week I went to visit Atlantic College, an excellent private college in Wales. Unusually, it gives people much needed experience of life outside the classroom, as well as the opportunity to study for their exams. The students, who are aged between 16 and 18 and come from all over the world, spend the morning studying. In the afternoon they go out and do a really useful activity, such as helping on the farm, looking after people with learning difficulties, or checking for pollution in rivers.

One of the great things about Atlantic College students is that they come from many different social backgrounds and countries. As few can afford the fees of £20,000 over two years, grants are available.

A quarter of students are British, and many of those can only attend because they receive government help.

"I really admire the college for trying to encourage international understanding among young people", as Barbara Molenkamp, a student from the Netherlands, said. "You learn to live with people and respect them, even the ones you don't like. During the summer holidays my mother couldn't believe how much less I argued with my sister. "

To sum up, Atlantic College gives its students an excellent education, using methods which really seem to work.

Question 72: What is the writer trying to do in the text?

A. describe the activities the students do in their free time

B. give an opinion about a particular student

C. give an opinion about a special type of education

D. describe his own experience of education

Question 73: What can a reader find out from this text?

A. how to become a student at Atlantic College

B. what the British education system is like

C. how to get along better with other people

D. what kind of programme Atlantic College offers

Question 74: What is the writer's opinion of Atlantic College?

A. It doesn't give good value for money. B. It doesn't allow students enough study time.

C. Its way of teaching is successful. D. Its students are taught to like each other.

Question 75: How has Barbara changed since being at Atlantic College?

A. She finds it easier to get on with other people.

B. She prefers her new friends to her family

C. She knows a lot about other countries.

D. She is more confident than her sister now.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions 82 - 86.

The American education system requires that students complete 12 years of primary and secondary education prior to attending university or college. This may be accomplished either at public or government-operated schools, or at private schools. These 12 years of schooling or their equivalent may also be completed outside the USA, thus giving foreign students the opportunity to pursue the benefits of the American education system and obtain a quality American education. Perhaps one of the most impressive facts is that a large number of presidents, prime ministers and leaders from other countries have experienced the American education system and graduated from a university or school in the USA. In many fields and industries, the American education system offers the most cutting-edge, sought-after programs at the world's best schools. That is why graduating from an accredited American school and being exposed to the rigors of the American education system is an investment in your future.

Whether you want to study at a top USA university, a top USA college, a vocational or high school, a thorough understanding of how the American education system works is essential. Without a clear grasp of the American education system, an international student will find it difficult to make the right academic choices. It is no surprise that the American education system and the American school system host more international students than any other country in the world!

Question 82: The expression government-operated could best be replaced by _____.

- B. needn't take primary and secondary education
- C. spend less than 12 years for primary and secondary education
- D. are made to take primary and secondary education in the country

Question 85: Which is true?

- A. There are not many foreign students in the US. B. The US education is not good enough for foreign students.

C. Foreign students are not offered opportunities in the US:

D. Many leaders all over the world have studied in the US.

Question 86: What is the writer's advice?

A. International students should have a thorough understanding of how the American education system works before going there to study.

B. International students should not study at a top USA university, a top USA college, a vocational or high school.

C. International students should not invest their future education in the US.

D. Without a clear grasp of the American education system, an international student can make the right academic choices

When you first apply for a job, you might not succeed in getting it. It's always a good idea to ask them to explain to you what prevented you from beating the other candidates. Don't complain about the situation, but ask them to advise you on what you can do better next time. Perhaps the interviewer disproved of or disagreed with something you said. Perhaps they just glance at your application and saw something that made it easy to choose between you and another candidate. Don't regard it as a failure, but recognize it as chance to learn more. As long as you don't worry too much about it and continue to believe in yourself, you'll eventually find the chance you've been waiting for. Then your family and friends will be able to congratulate you on your success!
